KANSAS IMPACT STORY

First Book and Kansas Parents as Teachers Association (KPATA) provided books to the Bright Futures Program (BFP) in collaboration with Kansas State Department of Education's (KSDE) statewide Parents as Teachers (PAT) affiliates. The books were used to engage families with young children during home visits and to promote daily reading together. The PAT curriculum is rated and well-supported by the Prevention Services Clearinghouse (PSC) to provide parent skill-building to prevent the need for foster care out-of-home placement.
